Overview

Stephen advises on commercial disputes and employment law. His practice focuses on fraud, seeking injunctive relief, 'boardroom bust-ups' and advising senior executives and entrepreneurs on high value bonus and whistleblowing claims.

Highlights

- Acting for a Saudi family in relation to a global fraud
- Appeal to the Privy Council from the Court of Appeal in Barbados concerning a multi-party shareholder's dispute
- Advising the founder, director and shareholder of an AIM listed company on a 'boardroom coup'
- Acting for a US citizen in the recovery of stolen art from a Panamanian company
- Advising a hedge-fund manager on what is believed to be the highest value and most complex whistleblowing claim brought before an Employment Tribunal.

Publications and speaking engagements

Stephen regularly speaks at external conferences on a wide range of commercial and employment topics.

10th October 2008: Stephen appeared on CNBC to discuss whether the Government can wrest back some of the money paid in bonuses to executives to fund its bank bailout package. Click here to watch the full interview.
