Claire is an associate in the intellectual property team.

Claire focuses on data protection and privacy work, including EU and UK GDPR and related international privacy law compliance. Her practice includes advising a number of clients (in particular early seed round and start-ups), on compliance queries relating to commercial contracts, data sharing, corporate transactions, and e-commerce. Claire's work for clients involves a range of matters, from creating a compliant data protection posture to addressing operational issues relating to data protection, cybersecurity and data breaches for businesses as they grow.

In addition to helping start-up tech organisations, Claire also advises charities and not for profit organisations on various data protection related matters, such as data subject access requests and employee data protection queries.

Track record
