Giulia is a partner in the private client and tax team.

Her areas of specialism include corporate and personal Italian and international tax, tax compliance and transparency (voluntary disclosure), tax litigation and tax rulings before the Italian Tax Authorities. In addition, Giulia assists with inheritance tax planning and is particularly knowledgeable in the taxation of trusts.

Her clients include high-net-worth Italian and foreign individuals, trustees, foundations, sports personalities and creative individuals in the arts and fashion worlds, along with major international brands and corporates with offices in Italy.

As the result of her pioneering work in the sector, Giulia and her award-winning team is now the market leader in advising international families and their family offices wishing to relocate to Italy under the non-dom tax regime.

In addition, she works closely with her IP colleagues in assisting clients who wish to take advantage of the Italian Patent Box regime.

Giulia is also responsible for our arts practice in Italy. Under her guidance, the team organised a series of art exhibitions matching the values of the firm with specific artists and stories in quite an innovative concept.

Keeping up with the times, Giulia has developed an expertise on the Italian tax treatment of cryptocurrency, especially in connection with the art world.

In 2023 Giulia was elected as a member of the Milan Bar's Tax Disputes Commission.
