With the recent publication of the draft Finance Bill 2017 and draft Finance Bill 2018-19, which between them contain the provisions affecting the taxation of UK non-doms and their structures. The UK Government has gone a long way to providing the certainty we have all been waiting for since the prospect of the reforms was first introduced.

These seminars will focus on the provisions of the draft legislation that has been introduced to implement the reforms to the taxation of non-doms and their structures. Some of this legislation will take effect from April 2017, with the second wave coming into force from 2018 and we will outline these measures and what steps should be taken between now and April 2018.
