

Art: More gallery than hotel

19 DECEMBER 2019

CATEGORY: PODCAST

In this podcast, we look at hotels displaying art and the related issues they face as their lobbies and hallways are looking more like galleries. Our host and art lawyer Diana Wierbicki talks to Robert Williams, the head of our Asia Pacific Hotels & Hospitality team, about how major brands to boutique hotels are transforming their spaces through carefully selected pieces of art & sculptures to create a bespoke experience for today's traveler. Robert explains the ways hotels are interacting with art and artists, the intersection of hotel brands and fashion, and the degrees of risk involved in displaying art in a public space.

Follow the link to view other podcasts in our Withers talks: Art series.

Authors

Diana Wierbicki

PARTNER | NEW YORK

Art law

 +1 212 848 9857

 diana.wierbicki@withersworldwide.com

Robert Williams

PARTNER | SYDNEY, SINGAPORE

Real estate

 +61 2 9276 7618

 robert.williams@withersworldwide.com