philip.reed@withersworldwide.com

Philip is a partner in the charities and philanthropy team.

Philip advises charities, not-for-profits and philanthropists on a wide range of charity law and related issues. This includes governance and strategic matters, mergers and restructuring, establishment and registration, trading and their relationship with non-charitable subsidiaries, tax, fundraising and regulatory issues.

He has a broad practice, but with a particular specialism in advising organisations in the education and arts sectors. These include schools, colleges, universities, arts bodies, artists and related entities.

Through the Charity Law Association, Philip is a critical friend to the Charity Commission for Northern Ireland.
