Thomas is an associate in the private property team.

Thomas has experience advising on a broad range of construction and property matters, with a particular emphasis on the acquisition, sale and re-financing of residential property. His clients include ultra-high-net-worth individuals, regional companies, charities and property developers.

Before joining Withersworldwide in 2021, Thomas gained experience at his previous firm by representing contractors and employers in the drafting and negotiating of bespoke and standard forms of build contracts, consultancy appointments and collateral warranties. This experience has benefitted him greatly when acting for buyers of new and off plan properties from developers.
